Sarah Minchener Jalali

Partner, San Francisco

Sarah Minchener Jalali focuses her practice on complex patent litigation, with particular experience covering electrical, mechanical, and chemical technologies. Sarah represents clients in patent cases in federal courts and arbitration forums throughout the United States that involve a wide variety of subject matter, including memory devices, CMOS image sensors, modular oil drilling tools, and medical equipment. Her intellectual property experience also includes handling design patent, trademark, and trade secrets cases.

Sarah also has extensive experience litigating complex commercial and other matters in several practice areas, including antitrust, healthcare, real estate, mass tort, corporate, and white collar criminal law. She represented Sun Microsystems in the prosecution of its antitrust claims against Microsoft, which culminated in the largest settlement ever reported between two parties in private antitrust litigation.* In addition, Sarah authored an amicus brief on behalf of the Government of Japan regarding the enforcement of the Foreign Trade Antitrust Improvements Act, a brief the Supreme Court relied on and cited to in its opinion in F. Hoffmann La-Roche, Ltd. v. Empagran S.A., 542 U.S. 155 (2004).*

Prior to joining Hogan Lovells US LLP, Sarah was a partner at Howrey LLP. In law school, she served as Executive Managing Editor of The George Washington University International Law Review and was a member of the Moot Court Board. From 2002-2003, Sarah served as clerk for the Honorable Margaret B. Seymour, U.S. District Court for the District of South Carolina.

William J. Kubida

Former Partner, Hogan Lovells, Colorado Springs

William Kubida's clients include small to very large national and international corporations, and he represents them on matters involving intellectual property rights in the computer, software, and semiconductor industries. William is a registered patent attorney with more than 30 years of experience in offensive and defensive patent licensing, as well as the preparation and prosecution of patent applications on behalf of high technology clients. His practice focuses on counseling companies ranging from startups to Fortune 100 corporations in the identification and protection of their intellectual property assets. He has an active patent preparation and prosecution practice in addition to extensive experience in the identification of infringers, strategy development, and enforcement licensing of intellectual property rights. William also works with trial and litigation counsel in the preparation for offensive and defensive use of patented technology in the federal courts and before the International Trade Commission.

Prior to joining the firm, William was a partner and chairman of the intellectual property practice group of a major Colorado law firm. Prior to that, William served as Engineering Law Counsel for Digital Equipment Corporation and was Intellectual Property Counsel for Motorola in the Pacific Rim while living in Tokyo.

Aaron S. Oakley

Associate, Denver

Aaron Oakley is an associate in our Denver office, advising clients on intellectual property, media, and technology matters with a particular focus on patent litigation. A significant share of Aaron's litigation experience includes defending patent infringement lawsuits involving software, e-commerce, and encryption technologies. He also has represented clients in trademark, trade dress, false advertising, unfair competition, design patent and copyright disputes, as well as transactional and general corporate matters.

Before becoming an attorney, Aaron worked as an electrical and computer engineer designing software and hardware for embedded systems. His engineering experience includes embedded software development, programmable logic development, analog and digital circuit design, PC software development, and systems integration, test, and debug. As an engineer, Aaron designed and worked with systems in a variety of industries, including aerospace, medical devices, consumer, and seismic exploration. Aaron is a named inventor on two United States utility patents.

While in law school, Aaron served as an associate editor for the Washington University Global Studies Law Review. Prior to joining Hogan Lovells, Aaron worked at another international law firm where he concentrated on cross-border project finance transactions.

Thomas Kearney is an associate in the San Francisco office. His practice centers on complex copyright, trademark, and patent litigation, and includes significant experience in right-of-publicity, antitrust, UCC, and trade secrets litigation. He also advises clients on copyright, trademark, and risk management, including Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA), privacy, and Internet-related issues. Mr. Kearney has represented a number of major Internet service providers (including eBay, Giganews, and Aereo) in high-stakes copyright and trademark lawsuits. During 2014, Mr. Kearney was seconded fulltime to eBay's in-house litigation group, where he partnered with eBay attorneys to manage litigation, provide strategic advice, and advise internal clients on various legal issues.

Representative cases include:

- Key member of teams representing internet service providers in complex, high-stakes copyright and trademark lawsuits (including Perfect 10 v. Giganews; Dreamroom Productions v. FC2; ABC, et al. v. Aereo)
- Key member of eBay's in-house legal team in high-stakes copyright litigation (Rosen v. eBay)
- Representing an electronics-accessories company in multiple simultaneous patent litigations over touch screen protectors
- Representing various technology clients (including a Fortune 100 electronics company, and a company specializing in the chemical and plastics industries) in antitrust, trade secrets, and Computer Fraud and Abuse Act (CFAA) litigation
- Representing a small independent gaming-accessories company to a jury trial, in complex copyright and trademark litigation against a large international gaming company (Chapterhouse Studios v. Games Workshop)

Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Kearney was a Research Fellow at Berkeley's Center for Law and Technology, working in the areas of copyright and privacy law.

Mr. Kearney earned his B.A.S. in Mathematics and Linguistics, with distinction, from Stanford University, his M.F.A. in Film Production from the University of Southern California, and his J.D. from the University of California, Berkeley School of Law. While at Berkeley Law he was a member of the Berkeley Technology Law Journal and the Samuelson Law, Technology, and Public Policy Clinic; he worked as a research assistant for Berkeley Law professor Pamela Samuelson, and was part of a Samuelson Clinic team that worked with a coalition of international technology companies, investors, and human rights organizations in developing “best practices” principles to safeguard freedom of expression and privacy in information and communication technologies.
